We are pleased to have you with us tonight as we celebrate not only another semester of fun, work, and music, but the fifteenth anniversary of The Noteables: Harvard's Broadway Beat. Founded in the fall of 1990, the group gave its first major performance on April 27, 1991, almost exactly fifteen years ago this evening. Hundreds of members have joined us on any number of stages since then, and have performed a variety of different songs. However, some things have remained constant across the years. We still hold true to the idea that any student who shows dedication and enthusiasm should have a place to perform at Harvard. We still share a love of Broadway music, and of each other. Thank you all for your support, and may our many years ahead together be as bright as these last fifteen!

The Noteables: Harvard's Broadway Beat

was founded in 1990 by students with a passion for Broadway music who sought to provide a noncompetitive venue of performance for all Harvard College undergraduates. Now a decade and a half later, we remain a highly energetic group of students and performers who dedicate ourselves to musical excellence. We encourage anyone with an interest in Broadway and musical cinema to join us, as our only membership criteria are enthusiasm, dedication, and, on occasion, a sense of humor. We thank you for your support of our work, and we hope that you enjoy the show!
